

GLOSSARY

---

CHAPTER THREE

---

A Practical Glossary

CHAPTER THREE

Wave of Fortune

A series of fortunate occurrences, information and circumstances that send the individual experiencing them skyrocketing to higher levels of reality.

The Wave of Fortune is initiated when an individual focuses their attention on a positive event and in doing so, exponentially materializes more positive events. Continued attention and energy will cause the frequency of positive events to accelerate faster and faster, finally leading to a climactic event and the dispersion of all that built up energy into The Alternatives Space. This is followed by a temporary calm.

Highlighting the positive in your external environment, or your “first win”, initiates this phenomenon. You tune into a fortuitous event, allow it to affect your thought energy and off you head, upward to higher Lifetracks. The phenomenon of absorption into the positive vortex is characterized by feelings of luck, happiness, accomplishment, and satisfaction with the world.

Imagine an upward spiral leading to your ideal version of reality. This upper Lifetrack contains all the material things, experiences, and sensations that create meaning for you personally.

Importance

Importance emerges anytime something, someone, or some situation, is assigned excessive value. There are two kinds of importance: Internal and External.

Internal Importance is an overvaluation or overestimation of one’s virtues or shortcomings.

---

---

Examples: “I am an important person,” or “I have an important job.” When levels of importance tip the metaphysical scale, external forces activate to level out the imbalance. Those who perceive themselves as doing important jobs or as being important people, are in for disappointment. In fact, they ensure themselves a fall from grace. The flip side of Importance, an under-evaluation of one's own qualities through self-humiliation and self-deprecation, also triggers correction. In both cases, the magnitude of the imbalance is the same. The difference is only in polarity.

External importance is also artificially created by a person when they assign too great a value to an object or an event. Examples: “I NEED this new job” or “I MUST get my ex back”. An imbalance is created and your whole endeavor seems to fall apart as if the world is working against you.

Imagine that you are tasked with walking across a log on the ground without falling. Easy! Now imagine you must walk across the same log, only this time it has been placed between two skyscrapers. In both cases, you have the same objective of reaching the other side without falling. But a few stories up, you will likely feel elevated pressure to successfully accomplish your task. In this example, the space between you and the ground represents Importance levels. This imbalance will be corrected by what are known as Balancing Forces, causing you to lose your balance and fall off the log.

Excess Potential

Any time an object or event is assigned undue importance, the excess mental energy you give over will create tension in the local energetic field. Take desire, for example. Desiring something will cause Excess Potential because it acknowledges—with strong emotion—the absence of your object of desire. The excess value placed on its absence will create a polarizing effect. The greater your desire, the further away you will push the Lifetrack on which it exists.

Strongly desiring something you don't currently have creates an energetic “pressure difference”. Balancing Forces will quickly show up to correct the pressure imbalance, often leading to the realization of whatever is opposite your intended result.

---

---

Example: An individual wants to be rich and they want to get rich quick. This individual has acknowledged their lack of wealth by emitting a frequency of strong desire. In their frantic wanting state, they make foolish investments and end up losing money rather than gaining money. They reach quickly and forcefully for money, repelling the desired coordinates. Feeling the loss, they try even harder, and in doing so increase the pressure difference. The harder they push, the further away they move through The Alternatives Space from their desired Lifetrack.

Rustle of the Morning Stars

The subtle voice of your intuition that whispers insight, ideas, and clarity, during the quietest of moments.

Flash Pendulum

We all know what to look out for from the big Pendulums in our reality i.e., media, religion, politics (if you are still unclear, revisit Chapter Two) but what about those abrupt Pendulums that flare up and then die down just as rapidly? Flash Pendulums may show up suddenly, grab your attention and heighten your emotions before you recognize what's happening. A classic example is sitting in traffic and getting triggered into road rage. You find yourself yelling at another driver and succumbing to an emotionally destructive state. These Flash Pendulums can easily knock you down to a lower layer of reality.

Pendulum Swing

Momentum occurs when a Pendulum gains energy. In the above road rage example, notice that this traffic Pendulum wouldn't have started swinging had no one paid it any attention or emotional energy. At least one adherent must feed a Pendulum energy to initiate its destructive sway. The more energy a Pendulum receives from its adherents, the higher it will swing and the more destructive will become its impact. Ignoring the swing of a Pendulum will help you maintain your ride on The Wave of Fortune.

Evolution & Degradation

Evolution is gaining positive momentum with an upward trajectory to higher Lifetracks. Degradation is losing momentum and plummeting to lower Lifetracks via negative energy. We are always doing one or the other, there is no exception to this rule.

---

---

Seeds

Bits of information, events, or circumstances that show up in our external reality. Should we choose to pay them our focus, Seeds contribute to us evolving or degrading. Finding a coin on the ground is a “positive Seed” which could initiate The Wave of Fortune should you notice and then seize the opportunity. A catastrophic event displayed on the media is a “negative Seed” which could knock you off The Wave of Fortune and subsequently trigger an Induced Transition. Focus on positive Seeds and you will find more of them. Likewise for negative Seeds.

Will to Have

The action of lowering your conscious or subconscious resistance to obtaining something. Declaring to the world your intention to achieve, do, or have.

Standards

Rules, regulations, “shoulds” or “shouldn’ts”, guidelines, codes of conduct, etiquette, duty, social norms, etc. presented to us by the Pendulums in our external environment. Standards create a structure for adherents to follow that enable Pendulums to continue smoothly extracting their adherents’ Personal Resources. If you question the standards a Pendulum has set, be prepared for pushback. Note that a Pendulum’s pushback is merely an illusion, which can be successfully navigated via lowering your Importance levels.

Inner Observer

The part of you that can assess and navigate circumstances in your reality with objectivity. This version of you is highly adept at maintaining awareness of Standards, Pendulums, and consensus. It is the neutral witness whose sole intention is to keep you on the highest path available to you at a given point in space and time.

MORE TO COME IN CHAPTER FOUR...

---